Baton down the hatches ... it looks like Tropical Storm Fay is headed our way! While Saturday may be a wash out ... the sun comes back on Sunday for a beautiful Knolls summer day! The Community Stockholder's Meeting is set for 7:00 PM on Friday ... outside the club (following social distancing guidelines). The rain date is Saturday at 10:00 AM. If the weather is prohibitive, we will reschedule ... so please check your emails ... we will send out an eblast with follow-up plans.

Regrettably the Knolls Fest scheduled for July 18th has been cancelled. As much as we would like to embrace our traditions and share fun times together, this year is just going to be different. The health and safety of the community needs to be our first concern and the logistics of making this happen have gotten very complicated. We really tried. However, the FARMHOUSE will be open on July 18th from 9:00 AM – 12:00 PM where you can find all sorts of CK paraphernalia ... as well as coffee and donuts!

We learned that a few of our security cones at the Knolls entrance went on an unplanned trip this week ... attached to the front bumpers of a few cars. Please be careful entering and exiting the Knolls – we don't want to endanger the lives of our cones ... and security guards!

On a fun note ... we have been trying to solve the perennial problem of the Canada Geese who love to snack on the lawn at Club Beach ... leaving behind a trail of ... well you know what! Our resourceful maintenance expert, Dan Hamilton, came up with a novel idea. Meet our canine guardians! They currently are nameless ... but never fear, the CKCP kids are having a naming contest for our fierce canine defenders! We'll publish their names in next week's KKN.

Have a relaxing weekend, stay dry and enjoy!

TIPS FROM MY GARDEN TO YOUR'S
Jenny Ostuni

When it's time to plant your flower bulbs and bedding plants - try this easy method. Add an auger* to your electric or cordless drill. Pull the trigger and easily drill a hole for plantings. It's quicker than using your trowel and digging by hand. Happy Planting!

An auger is a tool that is used for digging holes in the ground (or ice when ice fishing)*
